1 chicago the blizzard magazine is a bi-monthly publication for snow sports enthusiasts, specializing in photography, art, and architecture, featuring case studies, interviews, and photo essays. Juan Batista (footballer, born 1966) Juan Carlos Batista Núñez (born 17 June 1966 in Cali, Valle del Cauca, Colombia) is a retired football striker from Colombia. Club career Nicknamed "El Diamante", Batista had a relatively short career in Spain. After being unable to replicate the form he showed at the beginning of his career in Colombia, Batista had a hard time in the Liga de Fútbol Profesional (Professional Football League) in Spain. He moved to Greece and joined Aris Thessaloniki F.C. in 1996 for one season. He returned to Colombia to play in the ranks of Millonarios FC. He retired as a player at the age of 32, after leaving A.D. San Luis de Quillota in the second part of the 1998 season. He scored 40 goals in the league (23 in first division). International career He made his international debut for Colombia in 1990 and played in the 1994 FIFA World Cup, where he scored the opening goal of Colombia in their 2-1 win against Germany.
